

Dr. Yael Gruenbaum-Cohen is a Venture Partner at aMoon fund. With 15 years of experience in the Healthcare space, Yael's professional journey as a HealthTech investor is underlined by a patient-centric drive for success. Committed to advancing Israel's HealthTech growth engine, she believes that through strategic investments we are able to transform and improve the lives of patients. Prior to joining aMoon, Yael was a General at Medison Ventures, leading licensing, investments and strategic collaborations with global pharmaceutical companies and academic institutes. Before then, she led medical affairs for the Rare Disease division at Medison Pharma. Yael holds academic degrees in molecular genetics (PhD, Post doc) and a DMD from the Hebrew University of Jerusalem and the Weizmann Institute of Sciences